THE ISLES OF GREECE.

A Country that has been much Written about—Famous in Art and Science.

An Unprepossessing People—System in Force for Punishing Criminals.

Having once got to Greece, like a ship impelled by wind and tide, I am led to bring to, and fancy revisits scenes I shall see no more. Perhaps I stand among the ruins of Athens, with its glorious memories, where I felt myself dwarfed to a pigmy whilst looking up from the base of pillars which formed part of the largest temple in the world, (dedicated to the Olympian Jupiter) and scanning the highly wrought capitals, listening to the winds as they sigh around the ruins, as if singing a never-ceasing requiem for glories, which appear to have passed away for ever; or I am sailing on the Ægean, by the Sunium promontory, crowned by a fane dedicated to Minerva, whose white columns skimmer in the sun, as if hewn yesterday from the quarries of Paros, and untarnished by the storms which they have braved for more than two thousand years. Again at Corinth I revisit "the hoary rock."

> The key stone of a land, which still,
> Though fallen, looks proudly on that hill,
> The land mark to the double tide,
> That purpling rolls on either side
> As if their waters chafed to meet,
> Yet pause and crouch beneath her feet,

How at the foot of the Acropolis I muse by the remains of the few stunted Doric pillars, the remnant of a temple dedicated to Neptune, which the poet describes so truly and beautifully when he says:

> There is a temple in ruin stands,
> Fashioned by long-forgotten hands;
> Two or three columns and many a stone,
> Marble and granite with grass o'ergrown.

Then I enjoy the varied and interesting prospects (every scene of which has a history of its own) as I gaze from an eminence in the island of Egina, embellished with the remains of a temple dedicated to Minerva. The Greeks in general chose the sites of their temples with great taste and judgment, they being generally the prominent objects in view; as much cannot be said of many of our great churches and cathedrals. I fancy it was to suit his rhyme that Byron changes the character of the two islands, Hydra and Egina, when he writes:

> On old Egina's rock, and Hydra's isle,
> The god of gladness sheds his parting smile.

Those brave men and hardy sailors the, Hydriotes, are domiciled on a rock rugged as themselves, whilst Egina though hilly, has some fertile valleys.

How many interesting relics of the past are present to my mind recalling the lines:

> Out upon time! it will leave no more
> Of the things to come than the things before;
> Out upon time! who for ever will leave,
> But enough of the past, for the future to grieve
> O'er that which hath been, and o'er that which must be:
> What we have seen, our sons shall see;
> Remnants of things which have passed away,
> Fragments of stone reared by creatures of clay.

Yes, the temples of Greece are slowly going to decay, but Œta, Ossa, Pelion and her other mountains with their classical associations, mythical though they are will still be those overlooking the plains and waters where warriors have fought and conquered, while the fame of her heroes, orators, poets, philosophers, and sculptors, will be handed down to our sons and their successors "till the time shall be no more." The character of the present race of Greeks has been much traduced; for them much allowance should be made. Heavy task-masters had they, from whose clutches little could be kept save by craft and deceit. It ought to be remembered that after the Greeks had regained their freedom, there were many bands of armed men roaming the country, whose dwellings, vine-yards, and olive groves, had been destroyed in the struggle. They had not wherewithal to commence the world afresh; and the life they had led for years, rendered a return to quiet and industry distasteful. With a gun in my hand, and attended by a dog, I have wandered many miles on the mainland, and have visited most of the islands, not excepting Candia, where I have taken pot luck with the mountaineers who bear no good name; hereditary vendetta was carried out as in Corsica. Peshley in his "Travels in Crete" speaks of a Candian who admitted that he had killed or wounded ten men, "in fact" said this authority only a few men died in their beds in the old time." This venerable gentleman added: "this was the custom, and he considered it to be a laudable practice. Not only were private feuds carried out to the bitter end, but whole hamlets took one side or the other, the men were all armed and the victors ejected the vanquished, who were forced to emigrate. It is not so long since our highlanders in Scotland, like those mountaineers, had much the same character." I happened to accompany Peshley in one of his trips in Candia over a very rough country. We rode donkeys, with wooden saddles and rope bridles, the stirrups being of the same material. My companion was stout and well conditioned, a traveling fellow of Cambridge; he spoke enthusiastically of the wines and good fare provided for the Fellow's table—what a contrast to the supper which with some trouble was provided for us, and consisted of broad beans, with black bread, soaked in rancid olive oil, not even an egg could be procured. After his luxurious bringing up, the hot sun by day, succeeded by a cold night, saddle sickness and poor fare, were sad trials to Peshley. I have mentioned with what impunity I have wandered through many parts of Greece, but I confess to a "sair gliff" near Marathon, not far from the spot where some of our countrymen were cruelly murdered some years since by brigands.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

MR. BEECHER'S hold upon the Plymouth church is stronger than the gossips would have us believe. At least once a year the rumor goes out that he is to step down and out of the pulpit he has so long and so eloquently filled, and each time the rumor turns out to be as baseless as ever. The fact is, as one Plymouth man puts it, the members of that organization "know when they have got a good thing," and they are willing to put up with occasional displays of eccentricity and crankiness. It is also a fact that the great preacher is the life and soul of Plymouth church, and that when he leaves it it will soon become a reminiscence and a memory.

INTERNATIONAL RACE.

Interesting Review of the Event of the Week—Flat Failures.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—To-day's yacht race has proved another flat failure for lack of wind and delay in getting the yachts started. A large number of steamboats, steam yachts and sailing crafts accompanied the contestants of course to the outer mark where the Puritan arrived at 5:27, the Genesta nearly two miles to leeward of it. Both yachts were towed back to the Horseshoe, from whence they will start at about 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

A start was made at 11:30, in a fresh breeze from the northeast, and an ugly easterly swell. If not for the delay in putting the crews and officers on the yachts from the judges' boat, many think the race might have been sailed to-day within the time limit of seven hours.

The early morning gave every promise of a good breeze for the contest, and a good yachting day for all. Hundreds of people were early astir and flocking to the steamboat docks, each with hopes for the success of their favorite boat. A larger number of yachtsmen and their friends than usual left the pier this morning, and all were certain that the race would be made in seven hours.

THE START.

At 9 o'clock the Puritan was standing out through the narrows, under mainsail and jib. When the judges' boat, having on board Messrs. Tains, Schuyler and Stebbens, arrived at Tompkinsville, Staten Island, the Genesta also was under way, heading for the narrows under a jib. Her white jacket crew were soon aloft in the rigging, and the cutter's mainsail was hoisted in a few minutes.

The easterly wind which prevailed yesterday left a heavy ground swell which rolled over the bar and west bank, making itself felt as the yachts, under sail, made their way through the channel to the Scotland light ship, the starting point.

By half-past ten several steamers and the steam yachts Atalanta, Electra and Wanda, and over a score of sailing yachts including General Butler's America, were assembled near the light. The wind was blowing a fresh breeze from the eastward and the tide was about one-quarter ebb when the preparatory signal was given at 11:30, followed by one to start at 11:35.

The course was east by north, twenty miles to windward and return. The Puritan lay hove to when the signal was given, while the Genesta lay near an imaginary line, ready to slip over in a moment. By excellent management Capt. Crocker sent the Puritan across the line first in handsome shape, forty-one seconds after the whistle was blown, the Genesta following six seconds later, and to leeward about 200 yards.

THE YACHTS' MOVEMENTS.

The sea was quite heavy during the first hour of the race, and the Genesta showed her good weatherly qualities to advantage by running away from the white sloop. Her first tack was made at 12:41, when she was apparently a half a mile ahead of the Puritan, and heading N. E. by E. for Rockaway beach. She only crossed the Puritan's bow by about three lengths, and immediately went about again at 12:45.

The Puritan kept on the starboard tack until 12:10, when she came about, with the Genesta then under her lee. The wind falling light soon after she began steadily to increase her lead on the Genesta, and when, at 1:18, she set her club sprit topsail, and the Genesta her club topsail, the Boston boat had a good lead.

After a strong stretch to starboard the Puritan taced again at 3:10, and the Genesta followed suit five minutes later. The boats both carried the same sail—mainsail, club topsail, fore staysail and jib. The Genesta took in her balloon fore staysail and set a smaller one while on this tack.

The Puritan made a short stretch on the port tack at 4:10, going about again at 4:20. At this time the stake boat was three miles to windward, and was just visible, but the wind being light and the swells still quite heavy there was little chance for the yachts to finish.

The Genesta set her big club topsail at 4:50 and went about to port. The Puritan had been slowly but surely "eating" her way to windward of her antagonist, and was now a good mile ahead of her.

THE PURITAN ROUNDS THE MARK.

At 5:45 both went about again, while over 100 crafts of all sizes patiently awaited the coming of the racers at the outer mark. The Puritan tacked for it at 5:23, when the Genesta was yet nearly two miles to leeward, with not wind enough to fill her sails. The Boston boat rounded the mark at 5:37.56, while a clorus of steam whistles from the fleet of steamers greeted her. A moment later she slipped away over the now almost glassy surface of the undulating swells, toward the brilliant sun sky in the west.

The committee, finding it impossible to sail the race in seven hours, took the Genesta in tow, while the tug Scandinavian was sent to bring the Puritan into the Horseshoe.

The yachts are to be started at 10:30 to-morrow morning. Indications to-night are that the weather will continue light to-morrow.

The following figures show the great difference between the Puritan and the Genesta.

	Water line.	Beam.	Draught.
Puritan	80 feet.	22 ft.7 in.	8 ft.
Genesta	81 feet.	15 ft.	13½ ft.

The Genesta is considered a perfect model of the English cutter, while the Puritan is an adaptation of the "skimming dish" to the English style. The Boston owners of the latter are being taunted with this fact by the jealous New Yorkers whose boat, the Priscilla, failed to secure the honor of upholding the American colors.

By taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla many a poor sufferer who submits to the surgeon's knife because of malignant sores and scrofulous swellings, might be cured sound and whole. This will purge out the corruptions which pollute the blood, and by which such complaints are originated and fed.

Thomas Hughes has come from England to look after his Rugby colony in Tennessee and to procure more material for his life of Peter Cooper.

Emma Nevada's fiance is a West England surgeon, Dr. Raymond Palmer, whose brother-in-law, Mr. Chismole, is Nevada's manager. He is tall, broad-shouldered and strong.

Ayer's Ague Cure acts directly on the liver and biliary apparatus, and drives out the malarial poison which induces liver complaints and billious disorders. Warranted to cure, or money refunded.

GENERAL DESPATCHES.

The Armstrong Abduction Case.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The examination of Mr. Stead, editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, Mrs. Jarrett, Mr. Bromwell, General Booth, Mrs. Coombs, Mr. Jaques, and Mrs. Maury, defendants in the Eliza Armstrong abduction case, was resumed at Bow Street Police Court to-day. Mr. Russell, counsel for the defence, continued his cross examination of the mother of Eliza Armstrong. Mrs. Armstrong adhered to her recent denial that she had sold her child to Mr. Stead or any one else for immoral purposes. Counsel for the defense then asked a few questions tending to prove that the selling of the child was not known to the father; that witness kept the matter secret from her husband. A correspondent referring to the trial says that Mr. Stead will not make the slightest attempt to drag in names or make further revelations, but will confine himself strictly to actual facts relating to the Eliza Armstrong affair. Probably the witnesses subpoenaed by him will be such as will cause the greatest surprise. Regarding the legal aspect, it is clearly an incited prosecution. It is incited first by the supporters of the present government both for the ends of personal security and of class privilege; and, secondly, by Tory politicians with a determination, if possible, to close Mr. Stead's mouth during the general election. They remember what havoc he wrought them in the last election when he was editor of the Northern Echo. It will be remembered that the Bulgarian atrocities agitation was initiated by him. It is impossible to forecast the ultimate consequences without seeming ridiculous. Among them would be Mr. Stead's return to parliament by several constituencies. No hint has been given of the line of defense.

Chinese Attacked by a Mob.

SEATTLE, W. T., Sept. 12.—The large building occupied by the Chinese laborers at the Coal creek mines, twenty miles from Seattle, was attacked by a mob at midnight last night. The Chinamen, about fifty in number, fled to the woods. The Chinese lodging house and cook house were then burned. Numerous shots were fired, but this is thought to have been only in order to frighten the Chinamen, none of whom are known to have been injured. Most of the fugitives made their way to Newcastle, two miles distant. The building burned belonged to the Oregon Improvement company. The Chinamen claim to have lost $5000 worth of property. Members of the attacking party were all masked. Coming so soon after the Squak massacre this has excited a very uneasy feeling here. Trouble at Newcastle is apprehended.

In English Hands.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 12.—J. D. Spreckels has received a dispatch stating that Mr. Pearce, a member of the Glasgow firm who own the steamships Zealandia and Australia now plying between here and Australia and New Zealand, and under charter to the Pacific Mail Company, has accepted a contract to carry the New Zealand mails from here for £30,000 a year.

German Spies in France.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Many German spies have recently invaded various fortified places in the eastern part of France. It is stated that a German general and two officers were arrested at Belfort, the capital of the frontier department of Haut Rhine, while in the act of taking plans of the various fortified positions in the vicinity, and were escorted to the frontier.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—A. M. Kelley was at the Department of States to-day. He has formally tendered his resignation as Minister of Austria, and the resignation has been accepted.

Death of Emory A. Storrs.

Interesting Figures Relative to the Manufactures of San Francisco.

Some interesting facts are published relative to the manufacturing industries of San Francisco. There are 38,919 persons, or 18 per cent. of the population, employed in the various factories, and the value of their annual output is placed at $86,417,200, or nearly $400 per capita. In those factories which employ the largest number of persons the greater proportion of them are Chinese, who make most of the boots and shoes, cigars and cigar boxes, clothing, wooden boxes, furniture, doors, sashes and shirts. It will also be seen that they nearly control the laundry business of the city. It may be safely assumed that out of the total number of persons employed (38,919), no less than 15,000 are Chinese. It can only be noted that in many of the factories where Chinese are employed the value of the manufactures is in excess of that of other industries, and proportionately represents the largest amount of capital. In the manufacture of boots and shoes there are 3,500 employed, while the value of their product is but $3,500,000; in the manufacture of cigar boxes there are but 260 hands employed and the value of their product is placed at $5,000,000. This appears to be very anomalous, but is explained by the fact that the boxes are made almost exclusively by machinery. In cigar making employment is given to 8,000, whose product is valued at only $4,1[illegible],000. There are 2000 reported as employed in foundries and $3,500,000 is given as the value of their output. Gas works employ 460, and the value of the article manufactured is quoted at $12,000,000. Shirt manufacturers are placed at 2550, whose work amounts to $1,000,000; sugar refiners 360 and $8,360,000 is quoted the value of their product. Woolen mills give employment to 1500 hands, whose manufacture is given as at $1,500,000.

The annual products are given, in which it is ascertained that the bags number 8,000,000, cigar and paper boxes, 7,500,000; cigars and cigarettes, 119,000,000, 418,000 bbls. of beer, consuming 822,000 lbs. of hops and 25,000 tons of barley, 750,000 dozen cans of fruit and 110 kegs of pickles, 15,253,000 lbs. of soap, 78,000,000 lbs. of sugar, and 450,000 galls. of syrup. There are many other articles that aggregate large figures. The table is instructive as in it there is food for reflection to such as are interested in the industries of this province, which to California, Oregon and Washington Territory has been a good market for many years back.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

OTTAWA, during the past fiscal year, shipped about $2,000,000 worth of sawn lumber to the United States.

The foreign trade of England in 1883 was £731,040,000, and in 1884, £685,147,000—a decrease of nearly £46,000,000, or more than 6 per cent.

Five gallon kegs of whiskey sell for $60 in the Canadian Northwest, and COL. IRVINE says there is a big business in the article, notwithstanding the law.

SIR LEONARD TILLEY is improving in health slowly. He is enabled to take short walks in his garden, and will return to Ottawa via St. John about October 1st.

Buffalos are now bred at Goodnight, Kan., and buffalo calves sell at $50 a head where once the earth shook beneath the onward tramp of 10,000 hoofs.

It is reported that PRINCE BISMARCK intends to propose to the reichstag a further increase of duties on cereals against all countries but Austria and Hungary.

QUEEN VICTORIA has approved the project of bestowing medals upon the Canadian soldiers who were engaged in the work of suppressing the RIEL rebellion.

MR. HOLMES, of the Clinton, Ont., New Era newspaper, has been appointed assistant to the librarian of the legislative library, in place of MR. WATSON, resigned.

The gamblers of Omaha have made a proposition to the city that if they are not interfered with for one year they will pay for all street improvements and keep up the water works.

EIGHT carloads of stone are arriving at Ottawa daily for the erection of the new departmental building on Wellington street. One thousand carloads more will be required. The stone is brought from Newcastle, N. B.

PRINCE WALDEMAR, youngest son of CHRISTIAN OF DENMARK, will keep up the reputation of his family for brilliant matches by wedding the PRINCESS MARIE, eldest daughter of DUC DE CHARTRES, one of the wealthiest young women in Europe.

THE New York Daily Commercial Bulletin of Sept. 4, estimates the fire losses in the United States and Canada during August at $5,500,000. This is a decided improvement upon former records, the average aggregate of fire loss in August for ten years past being $7,000,000.

CYRUS. W. FIELD has returned from his sojourn in Europe, and is reported to be operating more freely in Wall street than at any time within the past three years. This information should serve as a warning to tenderfeet to shun that locality more carefully than ever.

IT IS understood that GEN. MIDDLETON's recommendation that a medal be issued to all volunteers engaged in the Northwest, a special clasp to those who aided in the capture of Batoche, has been approved by GEN. WOLSELEY and the DUKE OF CAMBRIDGE, and that the Canadian militia authorities have undertaken to prepare designs for the proposed medal and clasp.

ACCORDING to the Calgary Herald the stringent prohibitory laws of the Northwest are but very little better than a farce, the Mounted Police with their much boasted vigilance being entirely unable to stem the torrent of whiskey which flows into the territory, it is said in consequence of the liberality with which LIEUT.-GOVERNOR DEWDNEY grants permits. This is a prohibition country, says the Herald, and there is more whiskey drank, more money paid for it, more men and business ruined by it between Manitoba and the Rocky Mountains, than in any other section of Canada, proportionately to the number of people. And again: The number of strangers and the amount of money distributed in the neighborhood lately have given rise to a trade in whiskey which causes extreme annoyance to a quiet-going people, and disgust to business men, who have found that money owing to them has been "blown in" where they had a right to be first considered. The half-breeds of Calgary, who a short time ago had $50,000 paid to them, are most of them without a dollar to-day, owing solely to the manner in which the whiskey traffic is carried on. We have not the slighest hesitation in saying that it is an outrage.

THE CAROLINE ARCHIPELAGO.

It is stated that the first exact knowledge of the Caroline archipelago was obtained by the French navigator, DUPERREZ in the year 1824, and a few years later by the Russian explorer LUTKE. The group extends from 131 deg. 4 min. to 163 deg. 6 min. E. longitude, and from 20 deg. 6 min. to 1 deg. 3 min. N. latitude. The fifty islands have an area of 1200 square miles altogether, widely scattered. They reach nearly to the Philippines on the west, the Marshall islands on the east. The Ladrones are to the north of them and the New British group and New Guinea are to the south. Two-thirds of the area is found on five of the islands, which are mountainous; most of them are flat coral islands. In 1883 the first systematic survey was made by the officers of the British man-of-war Espiegle. They found on Ponape gigantic stone ruins, with rude sculptures, some of the stones being thirty-five feet long, twenty broad and fifteen feet thick. The vegetation is thick and luxurious, the climate tropical. The people belong generally to the Malay race and do not number more than 20,000. Ponape is the largest island, thirty-five square miles in extent and rising to a height of 3,000 feet. The natives are ready traders, and exchange trepang and cocoanut oil for iron goods, tobacco, spirits, cloth, etc. So much for the islands which Prince BISMARCK may utilize for his new-born German colonization schemes.

It appears from what has been said that Spain has never actually colonized the Caroline group. She always intended to do so, but she never did. Her late determination to do so and the action of the Spanish cortes, last year and this, indicate that she stood in the same position with other prospecting powers for papal bulls granting territory to kings are not of any account in these days, and are disregarded by self-aggrandizing nations. A war between Spain and Germany would seem to insure but one result. Spain cannot go into the money centers and get the millions necessary to wage a war of such magnitude. She had a hard time putting down the Cuban rebellion in 1868-78, and she made the Cubans foot the bill of over $300,000,000. The public debt is $2,600,000,000. FERDINAND VII. in 1823 repudiated in toto the foreign loan which Spain had contracted, and that loan has not to this day been paid in full. In 1851 Spain was formally excluded as a borrowing country from the London stock exchange. She was let in again in 1872, but since 1874 she has paid but little of her foreign indebtedness, although SENOR SAGASTA, during his recent premiership, made commendable efforts to strengthen the crooked finances, which he found in chaos. The expenditures exceed the revenue by from ten to twenty millions of dollars. Spain has a standing army of 160,000 men, and a navy of 124 vessels of which sixteen are ironclads. Her population is about 16,000,000. The German debt is less than $100,000,000. Germany has a population of 45,000,000, a peace army of 470,000 men, and can, within two weeks, put 1,500,000 men in the field. She has a navy of 86 vessels, 25 of which are ironclads; moves quickly, crushes without mercy, and is day and night ready to fight anything. In a war with Spain she would blockade every port of that country, and could not be reached by Spain by any possibility, unless she had French sympathy and a French alliance, the latter not being a very probable event.

A FISHY "ISSUE."

Seal have become very numerous around the San Francisco Bay of late. A commission was recently appointed to investigate whether the diminution of fish in the waters of the bay and harbor approaches might not be due to this fact, and their report sustains the theory. They estimate that there are four thousand seals in the immediate vicinity, and that they consume 120 tons of fish a day, or 43,800 tons a year, which exceeds the weight of all the fish brought into the San Francisco market for consumption in the city and all the suburban towns. As the seal respires above water and can only stay under a short time, he makes no impression on deep-water fish, like the cod, rock and sea-bass, but preys exclusively upon salmon, shad, herring, and other kinds of fish which feed along the shore and in harbors and rivers where there is a moderate depth of water. The salmon fishermen suffer most severely, the seals swarming around their nets by night, biting large holes and stealing great numbers of fish in this way. The evil is already serious and threatens to grow worse if the intruders are really multiplying, as is generally believed. There is a growing opinion that the seal must go, but the practical difficulty is how he can be made to leave. The seal about San Francisco are of an inferior sort, and it is doubtful whether their skins and oil would pay for the trouble of killing them, if the old prohibition upon their slaughter should be repealed. Fears have sometimes been expressed that the more valuable seals in the Alaska waters were in danger of extermination through the activity of hunters, but the San Francisco papers say that, though an immense number have been killed since the industry sprang up, there is as yet no perceptible decrease. The time may come when the seal skin will be a rare article of commerce, but apparently not for a good many years yet.

THE British Liberals are alarmed at the signs of a split in their party. The Birmingham Post gives a frank hint that HARTINGTON's speech is more likely to bring disruption than union. JESSE COLLINS, a bosom friend of MR. CHAMBERLAIN, speaking to the Cleveland miners on the land question, said the people asked bread, and LORD HARTINGTON offered dividing a hitherto united party. Both these expressions indicate that MR. CHAMBERLAIN will adhere to his advanced policy. His next speech is awaited with the greatest interest.

PROVINCIAL EXHIBITIONS.

The 40th provincial exhibition of the province of Ontario, was held in London last week. In addition to its provincial character it was likewise a Dominion exhibiton, for the government this year awarded London the annual grant of $10,000. The number of entries made up to Saturday, the 5th instant, indicated unmistakeably that the show of this year would eclipse all previous ones in almost every department. This need not be a matter of surprise, for situated as London is in the centre of the finest agricultural section on the continent, settled by a people whose progress has been truly phenomenal, with unrivalled railway facilities, and a pushing, energetic citizenship, the "Forest City," so appropriately named by LORD ELGIN in 1854, has always eclipsed her rivals in her agricultural and arts exhibitions. The Free Press, in its review of the various exhibitions that have been held since the formation of the association and its first exhibition in Toronto in 1845, notes, with a commendable degree of delight, the rapid progress the banner province of the Dominion has made. The prize list of the first exhibition was only $1398 in cash and $610 in books. At the last exhibition the prize list had swelled to over $20,000. Amongst the names of those who took a prominent part in the formation of this excellent association, to which more than to any other cause is due the credit of Ontario's greatness as an agricultural province, where the late Chief Justice ROBINSON, Mr. Justice HAGERMAN, Hon. ADAM FERGUSON, Hon. ROBERT BALDWIN, Rev. EGERTON RYERSON, and several other notables, all of whom have long since passed away. Thirty-one years ago on the 26th inst., the exhibition was held in London, and opened by LORD ELGIN, then in the zenith of his fame. The ever-rolling stream of time has also borne away all who took an active part in its management then, excepting two, the Hon. JOHN CARLING and MR. MOORE of H. M. Customs in that city.

As already stated the exhibition of last week surpassed all previous ones in magnitude and splendor. It was comprehensive and replete in every respect. The exhibition of cattle was the finest ever seen on the continent, according to the noted herds. The horses composed some of the finest strains that money could purchase. In sheep and hogs the choicest breeds were fully represented, while the arts and manufactures excelled any display hitherto attempted. These recurring annual shows of agriculture and arts are more than a mere display of products of farm industry. They represent the very foundations of Canadian life and character. They advertise Canadian industry and intelligence. They show our wealth as well as our worth.

It is to be hoped that the forthcoming exhibition of British Columbia, will be worthy of our people.

RECIPROCAL TRADE.

Ever since the expiry of the fishery clauses of the Washington treaty of 1872, many of our contemporaries have been discussing reciprocity as if it were an imminent probability, that it was in fact within their grasp. The Toronto Mail, doubtless voicing the views of the government on the question, takes occasion to remind the people of Canada that it is not the fault of the present government that reciprocity between the United States and Canada does not still exist; and that, in the present attitude of the former country, one party in the latter is just as impotent as the other to bring about any practical results in the direction of free trade. As is natural, considering the comparative volume of trade, it is Canada that has always been favorable to when it has not actually sought reciprocity. It was the United States which refused to renew the treaty. It was that country which declined to enter into negotiations for a new one in 1871 and in 1874. It was the proffers of the Dominion which were set aside without consideration, as so much waste paper. And, finally, as the Mail remarks, "In 1879, when the new tariff came into operation, the present government placed upon the statute book an offer for reciprocity in natural products, which stands there to this day." It is certainly true that the only thing for the Dominion to do in such premises is "to keep on acquiring a foothold in other foreign markets, while protecting our own market against them as they guard theirs against us." It is true that there appears to be no general feeling among Americans which would justify any other view than this. They have fallen into the disagreeable and unfortunate habit of regarding the trade of their own country as of infinitely more importance to any other than the trade of that other is to them. Encouraged in this by the demand for their food products abroad, their attitude toward every nation has been that of demanding that all the favors should be on one side. Therefore it is probably true that there is no considerable number of public men to-day who have given any attention to the subject of Canadian reciprocity, or who could be found to support it in Congress or in public.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ROBINSON, of the Province of Ontario, has removed from office Police Magistrate CAIRNS, of Smith's Falls, for refusing to convict a tavern-keeper charged with selling liquor under a Dominion license. PETER BOLTON, of Russell, and OLIVER QUINNVILLE, of Cambridge, county magistrates, have also been dismissed for discharging a hotel-keeper who sold liquor under a certificate granted by a Dominion license inspector not even having a license.

How to Quiet a Baby.

[Exchange.]

A mother with a wakeful babe writes: "I used all my arts of soothing and persuading, but there he sat and laughed and cooed, and I watched the light and the shadows until 11 o'clock came and went and 12 was just at hand. Something must be done, and I could think of nothing, unless possibly a wet cloth on the head might have a soothing effect; at least it would do no harm to try. I took a piece of canton flannel, large enough when doubled to cover the whole head, and wrung it rather dry out of warm water, then put it closely over baby's head so as to cover both ears and eyes.

"The effect was wonderful! There was a brief struggle, then perfect quiet, and in less than five minutes the little fellow was sound asleep. Since then I have tried it again and again, and always with the same quick result. It is a simple remedy for sleeplessness and well worth knowing and trying."

The Girl Who Laughs.

[Troy Press.]

Good and healthy girls are almost always cheerful. No novelist would consider his youthful heroine complete if a "ringing laugh" were omitted from the list of her charms, and in real life the girls who do not laugh now and then are seldom trusted or liked by their companions. Even beauty will not save them. A belle who fails to understand the jests of her admirers, and smiles in amiable bewilderment while other people are laughing, is soon left with no consolation save to wonder what anybody could see in her rivalry the happy possessor of merry eyes and a cheerful mind. The gift of gayety is indeed a great value; but it must be gayety which originates in a kind and cheery heart, but not that which is born of mere excitement of gratified vanity.

The Exodus of Loud Colors.

[Inter Ocean.]

The exodus of loud colors from fashionable fabrics is one of the advantages gained through the caprices of style during the past year. A more delicate color-tone is to be observed in feminine costumes, and instead of being inflamed or dazzled the eye is now charmed by a peaceful appeal to its artistic perceptivity. Ladies no longer seem disposed to paint the town red, cardinals, magentas, and such like having given place to neutral tints, to salmon, to cream, and to white, with here and there some blue and a touch of rich brown, or that peculiar grace of color that comes with looking at the fire through a generous glass of ale of a winter night.

English Factory Girls.

[Foreign Letter.]

In many English factories the girls are robust as young athletes. An R. A. once declared that he never found such splendid physical development as among the factory girls in the slums of Stepney. They work hard all day, and spend all their leisure in the open air. They get along with very little sleep, six hours being rather longer than usual. Independent, willful, lawless if you like, they are very well able to take care of themselves, although it is to be feared that, tested by any conventional standard of propriety or morality, they would hardly pass muster.

Whipping Wife-Beaters.

[Lancaster Intelligencer.]

And yet the very people who set up and countenance the whipping-post in the nursery and in the school-room are shocked at the idea of erecting it in a jail-yard and bringing to it malefactors of mature age and intelligence, who, despite a sense of their enormity, commit such crimes as rape, wife-beating, assault and battery, and kindred offenses against the person. The bullies and cowards who beat other people do not like to be flogged by the public executioner. And what they don't like is just what they ought to have.

Lace.

More and more lace is used for flouncing, draping and ruffling. It comes by the piece, in wide designs embroidered all the way across for skirt fronts, or by the yard for deep or narrow flouncing. Since the memory of man lace has not been so cheap, so pretty and so much used. The cheap kinds are of course the woven fabrics, not the handmade, but they are quite pretty and fine enough for any woman alive. The exquisite hand-made laces are, of course, as expensive as ever. But the variety of the cheap lace is surprising. It comes in silk, linen, cotton and wool, and in all the colors known—red, bottle-green, cream, blue, etc. A red surah silk dress, with red lace sleeves, is a charming summer evening seaside costume. Silver gray and brown, with lace sleeves of the same color, are also very stylish. The lace-sleeved dresses are often cut out square or heart-shaped at the neck. Lace apron fronts are very common with even sateen dresses. All lace dresses over some colored fabric are as popular as ever.

Trimmings for Grenadine Dresses.

Flounces of lace are the only flounces on elaborate grenadine dresses, and when these are used they are in such numbers that they are more like a combination fabric than a trimming. Wide lace flounces are arranged in lengthwise curves, only slightly gathered across from the hips on the right down to the foot on the left side; still others form lengthwise panels, and the old fashion remains of gathering them in straight rows across the front and side breadths below the drapery. Very simple grenadines, of small armure patterns, or of sewing-silk grenadine, have the skirt in fine lengthwise pleats after having been tucked across, and this pleating may be edged with lace. French lace imitating Chantilly designs is most used on black grenadines. The foundation of all grenadine dresses is now silk, since there are good silks for this purpose to be had for sixty or seventy-five cents a yard; this makes a skirt that will wear as long as the grenadine, while silk serge for the basque lining costs from eighty cents to $1 a yard.

For Traveling.

Double folds of canvas are basted in the neck and sleeves of traveling dresses. These may be white, cream-tinted, or else a dark shade of red or blue, as the dress or the wearer's complexion suggests. Economists now buy the cotton canvas by the yard for 40 or 50 cents, and make these folds at small expense. One fold an inch deep is enough, though many prefer a second narrower fold outside of this. The canvas must be cut exactly bias, and its rough edges should be bound with thin silk ribbon. Colored percale collars, in high standing shape, and cuffs, are for travelers, and there are also bands of linen, with a color on the edge, that may be bought by the yard and cut off in collars as they are needed on the journey. To protect the neck a kerchief of colored surah or of crape is sometimes folded inside the dress, showing like a fold above the collar of the dress, and thus dispensing with a collar altogether.

In Style.

A New York girl, Miss Fanny Swan, attended two weddings recently, those of Miss Sallie Marie and Miss Jessie Lansing, in a thoroughly official way. At Miss Marie's wedding she wore a plain morning gown; an hour and a half later, at Miss Lansing's wedding, she appeared dressed in white lace and pink roses.

His Plea for Profanity.

[New York Sun.]

"My dear," remonstrated a wife, peering out from under the bed-clothes, "I do wish you would use the word 'sheol.' It sounds better."

"It may sound better at times," replied the husband, who was noisily nursing his heel, "but when a man steps on a tack he wants the old version."

KEYS.

[Bessie Chandler in The Century.]

Long ago in the old Granada, when the Moors were forced to flee,
Each man locked his home behind him, taking in his flight the key.

Hopefully they watched and waited for the time to come when they Should return from their long exile to those homes so far away.

But the mansions in Granada they had left in all their prime Vanished, as the years rolled onward, 'neath the crumbling touch of time.

Like the Moors, we all have dwellings where we vainly long to be,
And through all life's changing phases ever fast we hold the key.

Our fair country lies behind us; we are exiles, too, in truth,
For no more shall we behold her. Our Granada's name is Youth.

We have our delusive day-dreams, and rejoice when, now and then,
Some old heartstring stirs within us, and we feel our youth again.

"We are young," we cried triumphant, thrilled with old-time joys and glee,
Then the dream fades slowly, softly, leaving nothing but the key!

SOLDIERING IN FORMER DAYS.

A Boston "Training Day"—The Awkward Squads and the Fun They Created.

[Boston Budget.]

Boston has always been noted for attention to military matters and the soldier-like qualities of its citizens. Ever since the establishment of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company, in 1638, this martial spirit has prevailed, and from time to time new independent companies have been formed, although the Massachusetts militia, revived and thoroughly organized by Adjt. Gen. Sumner, under instruction from Governor Levi Lincoln, in 1832, made a very perfect and efficient system. The general musters of the various divisions, which occurred every year, were events of great interest, especially to country people, who before the advent of railway communication were seldom treated to anything more novel and exciting than the annual town meeting or an occasional circus show.

May training day was also an event of considerable interest, and in the country towns was conscientiously observed, yet in Boston the fine uniforms and brilliant manœuvres of the independent companies were so curiously contrasted with the crude inspection and drilling of the awkward squads composed of novices, that May training gradually became a burlesque of the most ridiculous description. The law required that every able-bodied citizen of 21 years and upward must, in answer to his summons, appear at a designated locality provided with musket and accoutrements. The man of business, the mechanic, and the professional man would hastily leave his store, workshop or office, and a foray would be made upon gunsmiths' shops, second-hand shops or wherever an old musket could be hired or borrowed, to secure that indispensable weapon. Garrets and attics would be ransacked, and many an old revolutionary shooting-iron would be resurrected for the occasion.

On arriving at the rendezvous a motley assemblage would be seen. Well-dressed merchants, professional men and clerks were sandwiched in with shabby and sometimes very dirty individuals, yet it added to the picturesqueness of the scene, and some of the roughest fellows contributed to the fun of the occasion their full share. One would appear equipped with a rusty old gun on which was fastened an iron padlock, a skewer for a priming wire and a well-worn clothes-brush for the regulation articles. A single musket would do duty, with dexterous handling, for two or three men, particularly as the inspecting officer would wink at these minor breaches of discipline, knowing that he would be remembered after the adjournment at the nearest hotel. The calling of the roll was indescribably funny, the responses of "yaas," "heere," and "right," in every tone of voice, from rough bass to falsetto in nasal shouts, was vastly amusing while the chaffing of officers and constables was incessant.

The American Tooth Fast Disappearing.

[Harper's Bazar.]

The American tooth, the dentists tell us, is something fast disappearing. What is to take its place they leave to conjecture. Whether a toothless race is on its way, or whether a new animal is to be evolved from the present human creature on this continent, is perhaps an open question. Whatever it is that may come to pass, the fancy recoils appalled before the prospect. Children of 12 years often have $100 worth of gold in their mouths, others needing as much quite as badly, but unable to afford the outlay; children of 16 often wear complete sets of false teeth; and other children innumerable have teeth that are decayed before they penetrate the gum, and that have to be filled as soon as they are in sight, the crumbling material and thin enamel even then giving but little to work upon.

At first it was thought that all this resulted from ignorance, from candy-eating, from want of care and cleanliness. But it is understood now that in most cases the fault is inherent in the quality of the tooth, and the only remedy so far suggested is a diet calculated with especial reference to the making of sound bone. This is supposed to be found in the coarse grains and food of similar character, and the most confirmed beef-eater alive yields to the superiority at this point of the little kernel of grain that feeds his beef itself.

Selling Second-Hand Medical Books.

[New York Sun.]

"Books that we have the most call for," said the old bookstore man, "and yet are the hardest to dispose of, are medical books. You wouldn't think a book could be in great demand and yet never sell, would you? But it's so. Every day people come in here asking for some medical works, and look over our lot. Students come here and ask for anatomies, physiologies, materia medicas, and surgeries. But we don't have very many of such works, and the few we get are eagerly snapped up, bringing good prices. New works of that class are outrageously costly, and many young doctors are so poor that they can't afford to buy them, so they visit the second-hand bookstores.

"We get a great many family books and sell them all. They bring only moderate prices, because they are cheap in the first place. But the kind we can sell are parts of works, old volumes, and volumes treating of special diseases, such as consumption, scarlet fever, etc. Aids to health are also hard to sell, for every one wants the result of the latest knowledge in the medical world. Old physicians who have large libraries buy the old volumes, but we sometimes have such on hand for years."

FASHIONLETS.

Black lace toilets are very fashionable in Paris.

Sixteen yards of silk are sufficient for a dress this season.

Madras muslin makes a pretty covering for satin furniture which has become soiled.

Ornamental screens are much used to shut off a corner, making a little room within a room.

Wedgwood designs in table ware are again in popular and in much demand in this country.

Red mattings are pretty for a floor, summer and winter. Bright colored mattings are very fashionable.

Arsenical Wall-Paper.

A large manufacturer of wall-paper states that the present arsenic scare was started as an advertising dodge. He says that arsenic does not volatilize at ordinary temperature, and that it does not fume or decompose below a red heat.

Questions Answered.

Ask the most eminent physician
Of any school, what is the best thing in the world for allaying all irritation of the nerves, and curing all forms of nervous complaints, giving natural, childlike refreshing sleep always?
And they will tell you unhesitatingly
"Some form of Hops!!!"

CHAPTER I.

Ask any or all of the most eminent physicians:
"What is the only remedy that can be relied on to cure all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs; Bright's disease, diabetes, retention, or inability to retain urine, and all the diseases and ailments peculiar to Women"—
"And they will tell you explicitly and emphatically, "Buchu!!!"

Ask the same physicians
What is the most reliable and surest cure for all liver diseases or dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, biliousness, malaria, fever, ague, &c.," and they will tell you
Mandrake! or Dandelion!!!!

Hence, when these remedies are combined with others equally valuable,
And compounded into Hop Bitters, such a wonderful and mysterious curative power is developed, which is so varied in its operations that no disease or ill health can possibly exist or resist its power, and yet it is Harmless for the most frail woman, weakest invalid or smallest child to use.

CHAPTER I.

Patients"
"Almost dead or nearly dying"
For years, and given up by physicians, of Bright's and other kidney diseases, liver complaints, severe coughs, called consumption, have been cured.
Women gone nearly crazy!!
From agony of neuralgia, nervousness, wakefulness, and various diseases peculiar to women.
People drawn out of shape from excruciating pangs of rheumatism, inflammatory and chronic or suffering from scrofula.
Erysipelas!
"Saltrheum, blood poisoning, dyspepsia, indigestion, and, in fact, almost all diseases frail"
Nature is heir to
Have been cured by Hop Bitters, proof of which can be found in every neighborhood in the known world.

None genuine without a bunch of green Hops on the white label. Shun all the vile, poisonous stuff with "Hop" or "Hops" in their name.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

While the TIMES is always prepared to give publicity to the views of correspondents on any question of interest to the public, provided facts are given, couched in unobjectionable language, we wish it to be understood that we do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by the writers thereof.

Nor can we give room to duplicates of letters that have appeared in our contemporaries either in this city or elsewhere in the province. Correspondents, therefore, will save time and trouble in preparing such for THE TIMES, as they will be rejected.

Our space is valuable, and brevity, as far as possible, should be observed in writing on any topic, and on ONE SIDE of the sheet only.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—The Discovery Island light-house will be completed this week.

—Before purchasing Real Estate or insuring your life, see Rand Bros.

—Bear in mind the grand carnival at the roller skating rink on Wednesday evening.

—The Port Moody Gazette says a large number of the citizens of that place intend witnessing the driving of the last spike.

—It is not as dry to-day as it was a week ago. The indications during the forenoon were such as to frighten us with a meiniture deluge.

—The Columbian defends Mr. Thomas Mowat, fishery officer and others connected with the fish hatchery, from the Colonist's attack on these gentlemen.

—Dr. Chipp's office is at the old place on Bastion street; residence at Mrs. Harris' dwelling, Broad street.

—The City House has for sale Misses and Children's autumn and winter mantles, from 20 to 40 inches, at the low price of $1 25 upwards.

—Since the discharge of the freight ships at Port Moody the majority of the workingmen have gone either to the mines or the Island Railway to seek employment.

—Colonel Newcomer has purchased 1500 acres about five miles north of the St. Mary's Mission. He proposes erecting thereon a fine family mansion. It will be a stock farm for raising first-class animals.

—Serious complaints are made about the irregularity of the mails between Port Moody and New Westminster. It is evident some one is to blame for such a state of affairs as is reported to exist.

—Mr. Adam Armstrong, of Cranberry farm, Eramosa, County Wellington, Ont., owns a Shorthorn calf, 8 months old, that weighs 865 pounds. Adam would like to hear from some one that will beat it.

—A discussion having arisen as to the oldest newspaper man in Canada, or rather the man who has spent the longest time in newspaper work, Mr. James Somerville, M. P., of the Dundas Banner, comes to the front with a record of nearly 39 years.

—It was ever thus, man's inhumanity and ingratitude to his fellow man. Says the Port Moody Gazette: Several familiar faces have vanished from our gaze, gone, we opine, where the woodbine twineth, leaving behind them another illustration of man's ingratitude to man in the character of pecuniary pledges unredeemed.

—The rice mill machinery, consisting of six car-loads, which arrived here a few days ago, came through from Montreal to Tacoma in eighteen days from date of shipment. This is considered very quick dispatch, and the shippers, Ross, Hall & Co., are satisfied therewith.

—Mr. Cambie, C. E., came down from Kamloops to New Westminster on Tuesday night and is now making observations preliminary to undertaking a minute survey of the branch line to New Westminster and extension to Coal Harbor. Next week he will probably be at work with a strong force of surveyors.

—The unfortunate man, C. Stewart, who was drowned off the Amelia on Friday has for years resided on his farm in Cedar district, and leaves a wife and several young children to mourn his sudden departure. He was a member of the Masonic and Odd Fellows lodges of Nanaimo.

—List of letters detained for postage: J A Mara, Kamloops, B. C.; Capt. Lewis, Victoria, B C; Kwong On Wo & Co, Yale; Wm F O'Connor, Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands; Jno. Siddons, Melbourne, Aus.; — Willis, Tacoma, W T; B F Dillon, Esquimalt; Wm Anthony, New Westminster, B C; A H Harris, Tacoma, W T.

—The George E. Starr brought freight for: Atwell King & Co., A Ofner, Bell, Larkin & Co., B T Babbit, C P Chamberlain, Clark & Nicholson, C Strouss & Co., E Gold, Fell & Co., H Tilton, J Wilson, J Sehl, J B Ferguson, Marvin & Tilton, Munro Miller, P Hamilton, S Leiser, S E King, S Baker & Co., Thos Earle, W Heathorn, W Tinson, Royal City P M Company.

Myers, of Nanaimo Abroad.

A Spokane Falls dispatch of the 12th says: Considerable interest is taken here over a foot race between Charles Myers, of Nanaimo, B. C., and Hall Odell of this place, of 100 yards, Myers to give Odell fifteen feet and lay on his stomach. The race was originally made for a purse of $100, but last evening bets were made aggregating over $1000. On account of the storm the race was postponed until 10 o'clock Monday morning. It is probable that a large amount of money will change hands on the result.

Misses and Children's Autumn and Winter Mantles, 20 to 40 inches long, from $1 25, each, at the CITY HOUSE,

Only a Farmer's Daughter.

Mr. H. E. Wheeler, advance agent of the above company, is in the city making arrangements for its appearance here on the 26th inst., on which night they open for a season of five nights. The company appears under the management of G. K. Beede, at the Theatre Comique.

Another Pioneer Gone.

Mr. William H. Fuller, a highly esteemed and respected settler of Chemainus, died at home on Saturday morning last, and was buried on Tuesday. The deceased was 64 years of age, and came to this province over 26 years ago. He leaves a loving wife and many friends to mourn the loss of a kind husband and a Christian neighbor.

The Comox Suicide.

Charles Brown, of Comox, who had been drinking heavily for several days, first shot himself in the face with a gun and then cut his throat with a pocket knife. In a few minutes he was dead. He was about 44 years of age, a carpenter by trade, and a native of England.

A False Alarm.

A report was current on the streets today that the bark Rover of the Seas, which sailed on Saturday for England, had gone on shore some place down the straits. The report is no doubt a false alarm, as Pilot Christiansen yesterday gave the vessel a farewell salute and by this time she is well out to sea.

A New Souvenir.

In our issue of Wednesday we noticed a souvenir album which Messrs. J. B. Ferguson & Co., are getting out from Lipsic, Germany, of which they now have the proof sheets. The work deserves a much more completed notice than our space then permitted. It consists of 68 photos and views of British Columbia and the Northern coast, and is without doubt the finest thing of the kind ever produced in this country. The first two pages contain a nice arrangment of Victoria views and surroundings. The views of Goldstream and the Falls; Victoria harbor and the Gorge are each little gems. The third page contains some of the principal public buildings in Victoria; the fourth page is a magnificent view of the entrance to our harbor; then follow some pretty views of New Westminster and the vicinity including the asylum and penitentiary; the town of Yale, the Cantilever bridge and some pretty scenes on the C. P. R., Black Canyon, Hell Gate and a mining scene are specially worthy of notice. Two pages are devoted to the Aboriginies of our Province; a medicine man, two or three chiefs and some pretty Klootchmen make up, if not a pretty group, at least an interesting one. The views of carvings, totums and sathlings-urns will be interesting to friends at a distance. Nanaimo, and its coal industries, also are represented in a series of pretty and effective pictures, as well as the Archipelago, known as the Thousand Islands; Sitka and the Greek church. Altogether it forms the prettiest and most complete souvener album we have seen, and should receive a liberal patronage from our citizens. Messrs. Ferguson & Co expect to have it ready early in November, and no doubt their enterprise will be well repaid by meeting with a large sale.

The Electric Light Payment.

The dead-lock in the council, in regard to the payment of an instalment of the electric light purchase money, is not without a precedent. In 1882 when Mr. Boyd was chairman of the finance committee, Mr. Warren, one of the three members, was absent in San Francisco. A payment was ordered by the council for some hose for the fire department, and Mr. Boyd refused to attach his signature. The rules of the council require that the signatures of the mayor and two members of the finance committee must be attached to all checks. The refusal of Mr. Boyd created a dead-lock similar to the one produced by Mr. Ward's action. The Council after the required notice had been given, passed a resolution appointing another member of the Council to sign the check, and in this way the difficulty was got over. Subsequently the matter went into court but was finally withdrawn. The present situation will probably be overcome in the same way.

The School Election.

No report has yet been made by the Minister of Education on the legality or otherwise of the late school trustee election. Mr. Fell brought the question before the superintendent some time ago, and submitted to that gentleman his objections. The government refused to invite the attendance of witnesses, and consequently the investigation was not as thorough as it might have been. Nevertheless, the minister is in duty bound to take cognizance of the evidence adduced and the report of the superintendent, which, it may be assumed, has long since been put in his hands. Mr. Robson is more indifferent to the opinion of the public than we take him to be if he continues much longer to ignore this question. The dilemma may be an awkward one, but he must bestride either of the crooked horns.

Northern Pacific Passenger Matters.

Mr. Chas. S. Fee, general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific Railroad, has returned to St. Paul from his tour of inspection. He says local business will be good this fall. Immigration to the Northern Pacific country during the year has been fully as large as was expected. The newcomers have settled all along the line, and are now in the midst of a heavy harvest of wheat and other grains. A colony at Dayton, W. T., had an immense crop on its hands, and was so well pleased with the country that the members of it intend sending a number of their party back to the states to act as special emissaries of the company. This satisfaction, Mr. Fee says, extends the entire length of the line.

Leg Broken.

A laborer named Frank Defoe, who was attending the plasterers at work on the portico of the new theatre met with a serious accident this forenoon. The scaffolding, on which were Defoe and two plasterers broke down, the three men being precipitated to the ground, about nine feet. Defoe's right leg was fractured above the ankle; the other men were bruised but not otherwise injured. Mr. Apponyi procured a carriage and Defoe was conveyed to his home on View street, near the central school, where Dr. Taylor was summoned to set the broken limb. This is the first accident at the theater, and the company, it is gratifying to know, will not be remiss in extending a helping hand to the unfortunate victim.

Prove Your Statement.

All the fools are not dead yet. One of them—not necessarily unconnected with the Colonist staff—writes a letter to that sheet in which he makes himself a little more ridiculous, if possible, than nature formed him. The pioneers of this country have never been "sneered at" in the columns of THE TIMES. The writer of the communications we believe to be Mr. D. W. Higgins, who adopts this cowardly style to insult what he is pleased to call "recent importations." But whether the writer is the editor or merely one of his tools, the statement he makes is false. Now, let him prove it or remain a self-confessed libeller.

War of Races.

News was brought by the George E. Starr, from Seattle this morning, that the feeling provoked by the murder of Chinese hop-pickers in the Quak Valley, is steadily becoming intensified. More loss of life is feared, and threats were made by the whites that if the prisoners were not released Chinatown would be cremated. The smouldering embers of national prejudice and hatred are being gradually fanned into a flame that may result in the sacrifice of many lives before it is suppressed.

Labor Bureau Association.

The officers of the [illegible] organised in this city last Saturday evening are Messrs. Shakespeare, M.P., chairman, Powell, secretary, and Hamilton, Dyas and Tierney. The association will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in Harmony Hall, View street. A full attendance is requested of the members of the association.

POLICE COURT.

(Before Edwin Johnson, Esq., S. M.)

Christopher Brown, drunk; no appearance—bail escheated.

Oscar Hegrant, drunk; no appearance—bail escheated.

Thomas McEwen, stealing $80 from Wm. Kirkwood. The prisoner in this case was a witness against Hampton and Dickson, who have already been committed for trial for the same crime. Since then the police have received information that McEwen, who is generally in an impecunious condition, had changed four or five twenty dollar gold pieces. Remanded till to-morrow.

Low Tow, stealing an umbrella from Mr. D. Spencer's store, on the 12th inst. The prisoner, an old offender, who has served several terms of six months for similar offences, admitted his guilt, and received the sentence of six months with a broad and pleasant grin.

Tuck Chong and Kip Lung, stealing five ducks from Wm. McKinnon. The complainant said that, on the 1st of September the first named Chinaman came to his place wanting to buy ducks; he was shown eighteen that were for sale, and agreed to take them. On the following Monday Luck Chong and Kip Lung came for the ducks, and were asked by the plaintiff to wait until he had finished dinner. Instead of doing so the Chinamen went into the yard and helped themselves, and instead of taking eighteen they took twenty-three, five more than they had bought. These five ducks were stock birds, valued at $15. The Chinamen, on going away, paid for eighteen birds only. A number of witnesses were examined, and the case was remanded until Wednesday.

George Blackall, breaking open the door of Hee Gee's wash-house on Yates street. The defence tried to establish the point that Blackall had broken into the building to suppress a fire, but the evidence was insufficient. Fined $20, $5 damages and costs of prosecution.

NEW FISH MARKET.

The London Fish Market Opened To-day—An Elegant Shop.

To-day the London Fish Market, Yates street, was thrown open to the public. It being Monday the display of fresh fish was not extensive, but of salted fish and canned goods there was a large supply. The shop is located next door to the "Poodle Dog Restaurant" in the brick block erected last year. Everything is as clean as a new made pin. The place is specially fitted up for the business, with every convenience for carrying on an extensive trade. Mr. W. Jensen is the managing partner, and with him is associated Messrs. Leonard Solly and H. R. Troup. It is intended that each of the partners shall superintend a branch of the business. The "team" is a strong one and are certain to receive a liberal patronage. It is understood that the firm will catch their own supply, and that they will have the fish for sale in a few hours after being taken out of the sea. They are also making arrangements that the fish that cannot be sold over the counter are to be salted or smoked and offered for sale in this market, the mainland and eastern cities. It is an enterprise that may assume vast proportions and which has our best wishes for its success.

NANAIMO NOTES.

A seaman, named Dunstan, of the ship Kennebec, was sentenced to fourteen days imprisonment for disobedience.

A piece of property, contiguous to the Wellington mines, purchased by Mr. Jordon from Mr. P. Brennan, is being prospected for coal.

The men on the R. Dunsmuir caught a live seal on the Comox wharf last Thursday, placed it in a cask and took it to Nanaimo, where it continues to be an object of curiosity.

Capt. H. L. Sturt, C. E., is surveying timber land for Mr. Merrill in the vicinity of Seymour Narrows.

Dr. Walkem has been appointed surgeon for the middle section of the Island railway.

The new steam engine, received from England at Nanaimo, has not yet been tested. The Press advocates making the occasion of its trial "a red letter day," as the purchase of the machine is "a stride in advance."

Messrs. D. W. Gordon, M. P., and J Pawson, J. P., have returned from Alberni. They speak very warmly of the hospitality of Albernians.

THE FORTIFICATION QUESTION.

Gen. Middleton and Sir Adolphe Caron Coming via San Francisco.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—Caron, Minister of Militia, and Gen. Middleton, who have commanded the Dominion forces during the recent Riel rebellion, leave for British Columbia in a few days via San Francisco. The object of the visit is to ascertain what steps should be taken to fortify Victoria and other leading points in British Columbia. For several years past the people of that province have complained bitterly of the defenceless condition in which they would find themselves should England be drawn into a war. On the report of Gen. Middleton parliament will be asked at its next session to vote a sufficient sum to enable the Minister of Militia to thoroughly fortify British Columbia and fully equip militia corps already formed there. In addition to the militia corps a battery of regulars will be formed similar to the T. and B. batteries, which did good execution during the recent troubles in the Northwest.

FROM ALBERNI.

Condition of the Settlement—The New Constituency.

I left Victoria for Alberni on board the steamer Hope on Aug. 4th. She was loaded down to the guards with freight for the settlers, and also a large supply for Mr. Sayward's store. This store is carried on by the Barclay Sound Fishing Co., and is well supplied with all that the settlers require. Several of the new settlers took in freight with them to the amount of three or four tons. Mr. Geo. Huff had more than that, and Messrs. Swanson and Russell were fitted out for one year; so the freight was heavy. It must be quite obvious to all that running from Victoria to Alberni, must be the way to do business with the settlement at the present time. The east coast may do to go over to take a look at the new settlement, and do their locating, but for a general route for all kinds of traffic to the above mentioned settlement the east coast will ever be a failure, unless a railroad can be built across the divide, this later project, I hear, is in contemplation by the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Syndicate. If ever there is a railroad run through to Alberni from the East Coast, this will be found one of the most thriving settlements in British Columbia or in any part of the Dominion of Canada. There can be about 150 or with 160 acres each of which there are 88 already settled there, and their manly breasts are swelling with sanguine hopes that the day is not far distant when their now sparsely settled district will be noticed for its beautiful roads and residences, school-houses and other improvements. Some of the settlers strongly regret the tardy movements of whoever it is that has the power to keep the roads in repair. They say that the trunk road through the valley is badly blocked by the late fires, and they see no sign of them being cleared out. Now such a state of affairs should not exist in a new settlement where the newcomer has to pack on his own back, if he cannot hire a horse to do it, and even a horse cannot be got along till the road is cleared up. If this man has not got direct orders to attend to the

A STEAMER,

MORE FARMERS,

CLEARING OF THE ROAD

in question he can be exonerated from all blame; but if this is the gentleman we think it is, we are rather surprised that he does not take a more interested part in the welfare of his adopted country and his neighbors, who, at one time believed that he would and should be the man to carry up their petitions and prayers from the new electoral district of Alberni to our local house of parliament. Yes, I might say that it was thought at one time in the history of Alberni, that this gentleman, if it should become the case, that there was an electoral district created in Alberni, that the above mentioned gentlemen would be elected by acclamation. But should some of his friends fetch him out to represent the Alberni constituency he can just look out for a stump that will hold one more man then himself at least. And this other man need not necessarily be a J. P. So we might find another gentleman to do the political honors for Alberni, and find him where we did not expect him. But I will let the prospective candidates rest till about the time the takes place. If we be living and well we intend to have an eye out to see who will have the cheek to jump on the stump for Alberni. The man that will hold the position must be able to discriminate between right and wrong, and in cases of litigation between parties disputing each others' right to any lands or chattels, it would be wise for him to know that when a defendant has won a case and is not found guilty of the offence he was indicted for, which he should shove the cost upon. If he does not understand law better than two or three samples we have seen and heard of in Alberni, he had better not try to get upon a political stump, or else the man of a more matured intellect will be apt to shove him off.

CLIMBING OF THE STUMP

Russia Still Engaged in Strengthening Her Defences.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 12.—The Russian government has decided to transfer the administration of its Black Sea fleet from Nicolaeff to Sebastopol. The harbor of the latter place is being much enlarged, and immense forts and other works of defense are being constructed around its approaches. The Czar is also organizing a new fleet to be stationed at Batoum, on the east coast of the Black Sea. This little town is being rapidly enlarged because of its strategical importance as the central point of the Russian defense of the east coast of the Black Sea. This action of the Czar in now restoring to Sebastopol the military and naval prestige which it possessed before the Crimean war is regarded with misgivings in certain British-Indian quarters. Besides making the above military changes in the Black sea the Russian government is erecting barracks for the accommodation of 3000 troops at Rostoff, on the river Don, twenty-two miles above its outlet into the sea of Azov, and on the line of railway from Moscow to Caucasus. These barracks and their accompanying defenses will connect the military works in Caucasus with those of central Russia. The Crimea is also being strengthened by the erection of a number of new modern batteries at Keritch and Tagnarog. The latter place is situated opposite the mouth of the Don and on the north shore of the Sea of Azov, and the former stands on the strait of Zenkame, which connects the sea of Azov with the Black sea. The Russian naval commission will soon report upon the conditions of all harbors along the Greek and Turkish coasts.
